The Joyful Noise Newsletter February 2026

Writer's Block

As I write this I'm 6 or 7 days past the deadline to hand in my newsletter piece, and I've got a bad case of writer's block. It's a good thing I'm not actually a professional writer, and there are lots of ways for me to do my job without submitting 400 or 500 words to the newsletter. It's a little different from procrastination, I wrote my final paper in undergraduate psychology on that...the professor said to study and write about something I know that is important to me.

The key causes of procrastination are thinking something is too easy, so you can put it off and dash it off, or it is too hard, you're not going to get it done so what's the point of starting. There are lots of techniques to overcome procrastination but again, this feels different. I don't think it's too easy, I actually put much thought into this and plan ahead, I don't think it's too hard, I enjoy doing it, and getting to share about something I think is important or relevant is a privilege.

I think it may come from having too much to say and not enough to say at the same time. Here are some of the prompts I've been noting as worthy of expansion in a newsletter piece...

Relationship between politics and religion, and the line that needs to be walked in a prophetic, truth-telling faith.

Introduction to my thoughts on the book of Matthew and the nuances of the writer's theology, what's the relevance for today's Christian?

Theology and religion as expressed in the utopian fiction of Star Trek, expanding on research and commentary I looked at in response to the illustration I used in a sermon a few weeks ago.

Thoughts on the weather and how Canadians love to talk about it, and how life can be a struggle against the ice and snow that takes all your energy and care, compare and contrast with a life of faith.

Some of the prompts, see, too much to say. Relevance to people's lives, what they see on the news and what is going on in their family and personal life.

One of the techniques regarding procrastination is to just start something, maybe you'll figure it out as you go. I was hoping for that, think and write about my process and maybe something faith-related will make itself apparent. Maybe that is the faith message in all this, start something, make it important in the moment, and be open to sharing.

One last prompt I had in my notes: say a special thanks to Cindi for all the work she has done through and for the church. Blessings in whatever comes next.

Pastor Ian

ELDERS PERSPECTIVE

What's in Your Future?

As we begin 2026, all of us will question what will happen in the new year. Will I need a new car? Will I have a medical issue that will need to be resolved? Will I have a new addition to my family?

At the start of 2025, I too had similar questions, not knowing that I would be presented with challenges.....open heart surgery, having a child and his family relocate out of the country. Although I knew the possibility of surgery and the notice of our son moving, I did not anticipate these challenges to create such an impact on my life. We need to remember that God is with us for every step in our lives and helps us navigate through these challenges as stated in Jeremiah 29:11, "For I know the plans I have for you," declares the Lord, "plans to prosper you and not harm you, plans to give you hope and a future."

Do you have a specific Bible verse that inspires you and keeps you grounded? My verse is Joshua 1:9, "Be strong and courageous. Do not be afraid; do not be discouraged, for the Lord your God will be with you wherever you go." This verse helped me understand and adjust to the challenges presented to me last year. Although being scared and nervous about my open-heart surgery, I felt God's presence all the time, protecting me and being with me during surgery, eight (8) weeks of recovery followed by many cardiac rehab sessions. For my son and his family moving out of the country, I trusted God would take care of them no matter where they go or what they do. Now in 2026 as I transition away from being vice-chair for the Board of Elders, I know God has plans for me. I need to be open to what is in my future, trusting God along the way – Proverbs 3:5, "Trust in the Lord with all your heart and lean not on your own understanding."

I pray that each and every one of you remain open to what God has planned for you this year. Listen to His "small voice," trusting in the message from Jeremiah 29:11.

FROM THE TRUSTEES

Special Envelopes:

The special envelope for January and February is for Foundation Repairs. The discovery late in 2025 of powder post beetles infesting the paneling going up the stairs to the sanctuary (by the old restrooms) led to the realization that there was a moisture problem in that area as well. A historic masonry specialist was scheduled to repair some cracks in the stone foundation in January, but his schedule changed and he was able to do the repairs in November. Proceeds from this envelope will reimburse the congregation's Deferred Maintenance Fund for that expense.

The envelope for the Nazareth Food Bank provides funds to help feed some of our neighbors.

thank you

A big Thank You to those who restored the wall going up the stairs to the sanctuary (by the old restrooms): Mike Koehler for installing the new wall board and trim; Trustee Lori Deutsch for picking up paint and supplies and leading the painting effort; Lori Deutsch, Kim Samsel, Sue Dreydoppel and John Deutsch for painting. Much more than just the new wall board was painted; they also spackled holes and cracks and painted other walls and door frames throughout the narthex behind the sanctuary, down the stairs, and the room at the bottom of the stairs.

Thanks to all those who took down the Christmas decorations in the sanctuary in record time, so that another event could take place later that morning: Francine Messinger, Melody Stocker, Jack Breidinger, Judy Breidinger, Dennis Guldner, Ralph Barthold, Anthony Stampf, Lori Deutsch, Pam Stampf, Cindi Kessler, Sue Dreydoppel, Tammy Mehlig.

PLEASE NOTE OUR SNOW POLICY

If the conditions are hazardous (ice, excessive snow, winter weather emergency conditions, etc.), please consult any of the following to find out whether worship has been cancelled, or the schedule altered:

- WFMZ, Channel 69 (Check the crawl on television, but they have indicated to us that they will only post the announcement on their website, www.wfmz.com, unless there are “extreme weather conditions”).
- The church voicemail message (610-759-0376)
- Schoeneck's social media.

We will make every effort to arrive at an appropriate decision prior to 7:00 AM on Sunday mornings. If you are unsure about safe travel conditions, please stay home and watch the service on livestream.
